A year to remember!

The Boybutante AIDS Foundation had a great summer and fall, thanks to the support from our friends and volunteers.

The sixth annual Boo-Butante in October was a big success this year, raising nearly $2,100 as ghouls haunted Tasty World. That was followed on Dec. 1 by World AIDS Day Block Party at the Fabulous 40 Watt, sponsored by M•A•C Cosmetics.

Diva Wonderland, our Christmas party at Repent Bar, raised $561, and Love on a Two-Way Street, Valentine's Day at Club Detour, brought in $455 for AIDS support.

We also had a great collaboration with Town & Gown Players this year, when they presented Hedwig and the Angry Inch in March as a benefit for AIDS Athens. We helped with publicity and other details for the sold-out performances.

In December, we welcomed Olivia Long as the new Executive Director of AIDS Athens. Olivia has a Master's in Public Health from Emory, and we're delighted to be working with her.

Now we're gearing up for the 18th Annual Boybutante Ball, Saturday Night Divas! See the front of this newsletter for details about all the week's events.

Tickets for the ball are $20 and are available in Athens at Urban Sanctuary Day Spa in Five Points and Schoolkids Records and Junkman's Daughter's Brother downtown. In Atlanta, you can get tickets at Brush-strokes.

Hannah Cowart takes her first walk down the runway as Miss Bogart 2006 at last year's Boyball.

Miss Bogart 2006

The most anticipated diva of the year is Miss Bogart 2006 Ms. Mona, who will be making her debut at the Boybutante Ball on Saturday, April 21.

Ms. Mona is the alter ego of Hannah Cowart, who was selected Miss Bogart last year.

Hannah, who is a UGA grad student, said Ms. Mona has only appeared once before, and she's not sure what will happen this time.

"I will NOT be held accountable for her actions," Hannah said. A team of drag professionals is luring Ms. Mona out, just in time for the ball.

'Hedwig' is a big success

The Town & Gown Players performed Hedwig and the Angry Inch March 2-4 to sold-out audiences, as a benefit show for AIDS Athens, in conjunction with the Boybutante AIDS Foundation.

The outstanding production starred Nathan Altman, Anna Claire Davis, Zach Burke, Emma Bagget-Clarke, Zack Goulet, and Betsy Beasley.

Boybutante would like to thank the Town & Gown Players for their great effort on this fine show.

The Boybutante AIDS Foundation presented a check for $30,000 to AIDS Athens at a reception in June. Shown at left is Nandi Campbell, Boybutante Board member, acting as a bartender during the event. Nandi is a law student at UGA and gives what little spare time she has to volunteering for Boybutante.
